At the Auditorium Thursday, Friday,

Saturday. The terrific success of The Eagle and The terrific success of The Eagle and the Girl fully quaities the act to remain in the headline position for the balance of the week. The ghostly form of the gigantic eagle flying over the audience, surrounded by a phosphoreant glow, is a sight to be remembered. The Kalmos are a pair of international dancers who come for the last three days of the week. Their dancing is not of the buck and wing variety, but the different folk dances of all nations. A claver comedy pair are Cole & Coleman, who present a comedy musical man, who present a comedy musica act that combines skill and humor. Lella Cantona, the original Mary Jane from the Buster Brown Co., is last but not least. Leila will make you laugh loud and long. Don't forget the Inde-pendent pictures. The Auditorium uses J1 different makes, 22 more than any other house in the state.

Vaudeville de Luxe at Poli's. Coming to Poil's today is an extra-erdinarily strong vandsville bill. Head-lined on this bill is Dillon, whose re-markabe lectures have been the talk of the town. He will present for the last three days The District Attorney which three days free instrict attorney, when deals with political life in a big city. The story tells of a young man who hy his ability goes to the front and overthrows machine rule. The feature act is the Cadets de Garcoyne, who offer a high class operatic singing act. This act consists of French singers who were less senson with the Metro-This act consists of French singers who were last season with the Metropolitan Opera Co. A comedy musical act that is sure to please the most fastidious is Berry & Berry. Both are first class mosicians, using a variety of instruments, and they extract real wholesome comedy while playing throughout the whole of their act. Rutledge & Pickering are easn in a rural comedy drama with a touch of pathosentitled My Boy Jim. An act working in blackface and impersonating southern negro types in plantation songs and dances is Sharp & Turek. Bensley a unique foot juggiar, can do mure with his pedal extremities than the ordinary man can do with his hands. man can do with his hands.

imagination, but when the amount is divided up among nearly 200,000 clergymen, the average turns out to be in the neighborhood of $500 a year. The average emolument of the Catholic priest in our larger cities is $628. The metropolitan Presbyterian clergyman gets $2,430, and in no other denomination does the average rise above $2,600.

The financial prizes—in a profession which is not looking for the tangible reward of the successful man of business—are those of the pastorates of the three largest cities. New York. Chicago and Philadelphia. The Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church could not get the man it wanted for $18,000 and a residence rent free. A few other a residence rent free. A few other pastorates in New York offer $15,000 and $12,000. But there are merciless exactions, and the country pastorate has its compensations of simpler living conditions, health of body and pence of mind almost unattainable to the harrassed, importuned and over-worked city diergyman. I have a few shares of stock of the United Butchers' Supply Corporation, incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and doing a cash business, I believe this stock will pay dividends of more than 10 per cent, on every dollar you invest in it. The corporation owns and controls valuable patents. The reason it is placing this stock on the market is to increase the factory space and present capacity. The above is practically a monopoly with no competition.

In a very short while this stock should be worth a great deal more than its par value. It is now selling at $10 par.

This is not a risk. It is a sure thing. The business has existed four years and each day has brought forth a larger increase in its present capacity. POETRY.

IN THE VALLEY. ghost may indeed come back, If a ghost may indeed come bac And wander once more Along the familiar track. To the old hovse door. At full of the moon I shall come

To the garden gate.
When the sheaves have been carried home And summer wears late. I shall stand in the moenbeams chill When mists wrap the dale. I shall watch where the steep of the hill hill

Hide the white road-trail:
At full of the moon shall I hear,
As I watch and wait.
Shall I hear a step draw near
To the garden gate.
And out of the shadowy gloom
Of the great elm-tree,
Will my old lover once more come
To keep tryst with me?

Ill my old lover once more come To keep tryst with me? -Mary A. M. Marks, in The Argosy. A COUNTRY LANE.

Between steep banks it winds along.
O'erhung with leafy hawthorn-trees.
From which in spring the thrush's Finalis softly on the soft south breeze,
There is the earliest primrose found.
And modest purple violets grow.
And trembling wind-flowers star the ground.
And humble ragged robins blow.

There, too, on golden summer eves.
The old folks like to stroll and talk;
Or slowly, under whispering leaves.
The self-absorbed young lovers walk.
While, fresh as youthful hopes unfurl New growths about their lingering feet;
And tender fronds of fern uncurl,
And all the balmy air is sweet.

With mingled scents of thyme and And wilding-roses, passion-pale.
As trembles through the dewy dusk
The music of the nightingale.
And, stealing from some hidden nook,
Adown the lane and o'er the lea,
By pleasant ways, a silver brook
Runs, singing, to the silver sea.
—E. Matheson in Chambers' Journal.

VIEWS AND VARIETIES

Clever Sayings. "Hullo! What's up? Hurt your and?" "Yes. Reckless driving." "Oh, motor?" "No, a nall."—M. A. P. "Young men of today don't understand women's hearts." "No: they don't even understand their milliners' bills."—L'Amour.

Lady Customer (in furniture shop)-What has become of those lovely side-boards you had when I was last here? Salesman (smirking)—I shaved 'em off, 65 West Main Street, Norwich, Conn. madam. Tit-Bits. "I don't think your man will win the nomination." "Why not? He's a good man—popular and all that." "Good. Oh, yes. But when was he ever shot at?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Fond Parent—After all the money I'm spending on your education you don't know who Judes was; perhaps you can inform me who dwalt in the Garden of Eden? Dutiful Son—The Adamses.—The Sketch. "If I were you," said the doctor, "I should give up eating meat." "Tain't necessary," replied the patient. "I've got enough in the bank to pay your bill without having to economize that way."—Detroit Free Press.

"Ain't no hitting these days. in 1888 I played on a team that made 17 runs in one game." "We get that many occasionally nowadays." "These were home runs. I ain't counting the other runs."—Houston Post. A tramp who seemed to be in a starving condition asked for food at the kitchen of a home in California. "You likee fish?" asked the Chinese cook. "Sure." replied the tramp eager-"All lite; come alound Fliday,"-"Which is your favorite Wagnerian

"There are several that I never I reckon one of them."-Washington Mamma (at dinner)-Willie don't you stare at Mr. Blank that way. It isn't polite. Small Willie—I was just watchin' to see him tackle his glass of
